TEACHER MANUAL

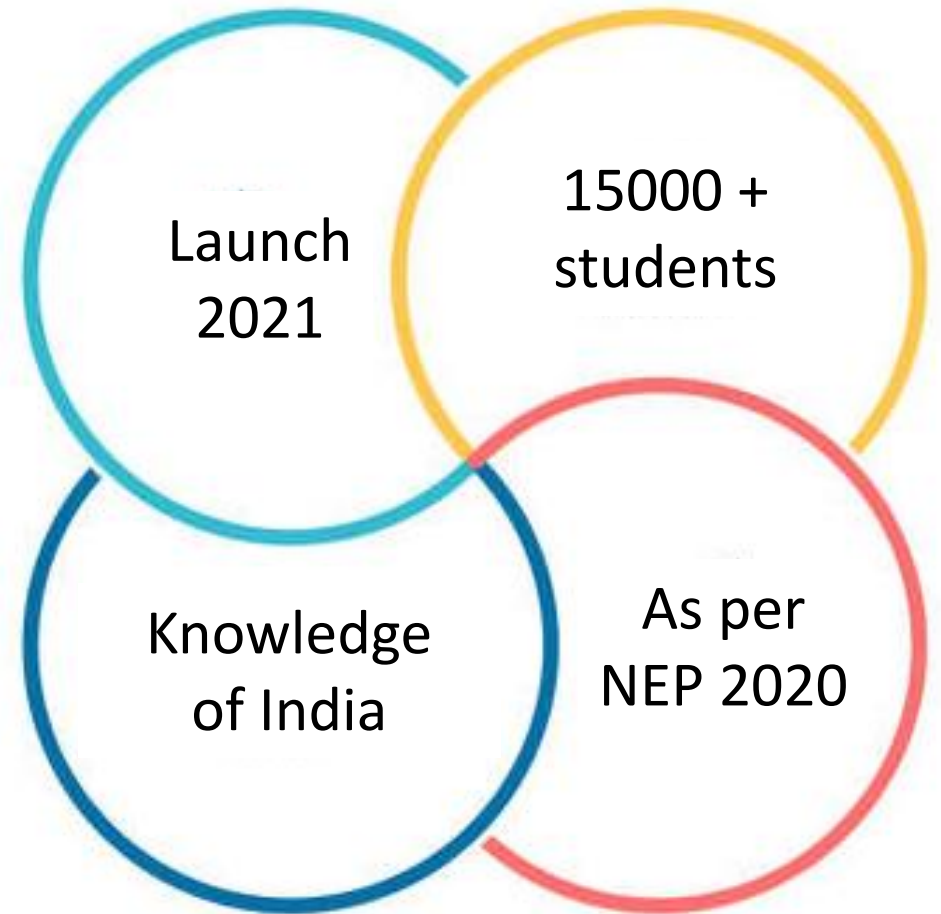

How will this manual help?

1. To specify the objective & offerings of the program.
2. To understand the content structure and format.
3. Provides teacher inputs that enhance the student experience month-on-month.
4. The measurable takeaway
5. Lesson planning for the month

The India Awareness Program (IAP) is India's first focused NEP 2020 compliant knowledge of India program.

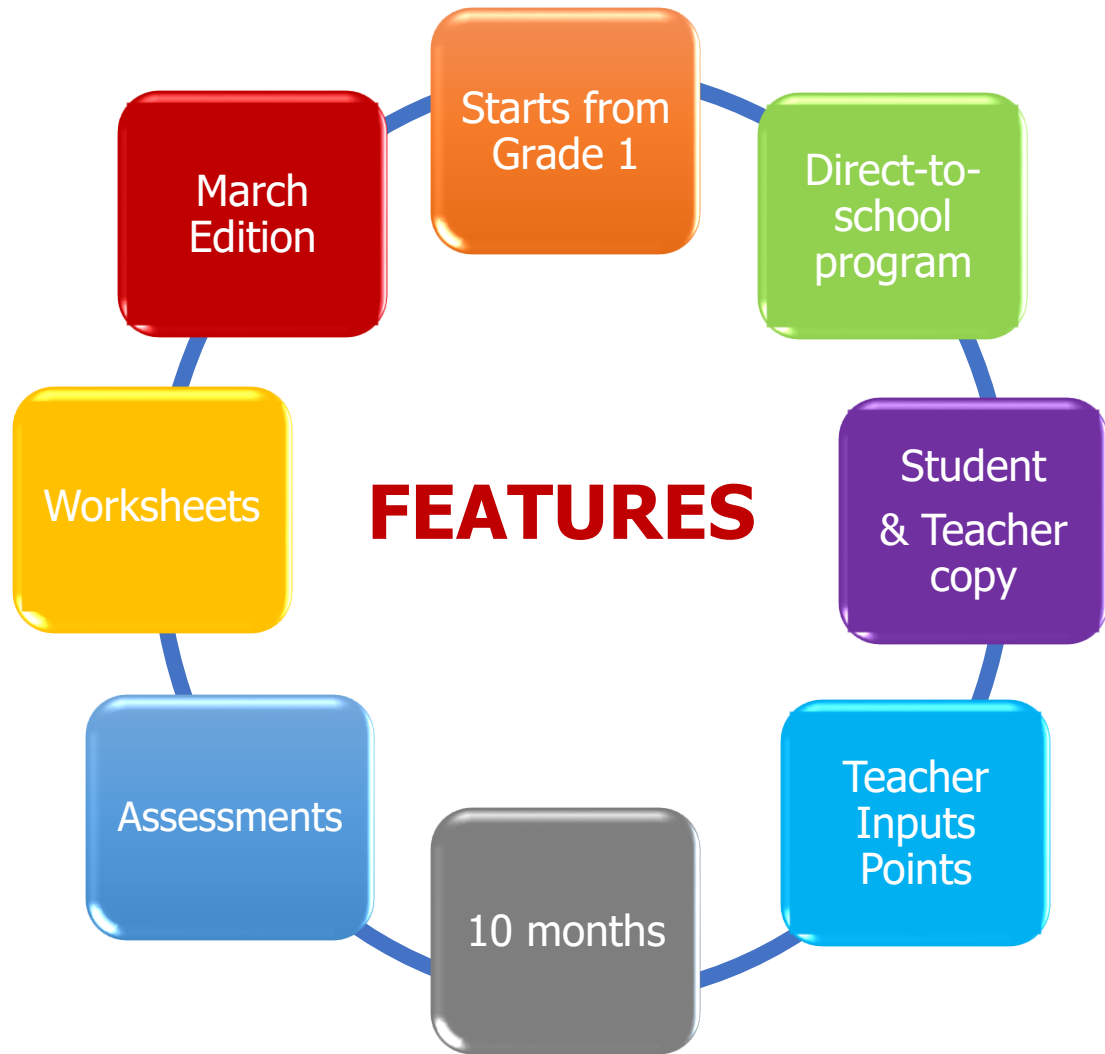

The program aims to help students imbibe awareness about our country, inculcate a sense of national belonging and enhance cultural awareness on a month-to-month basis.

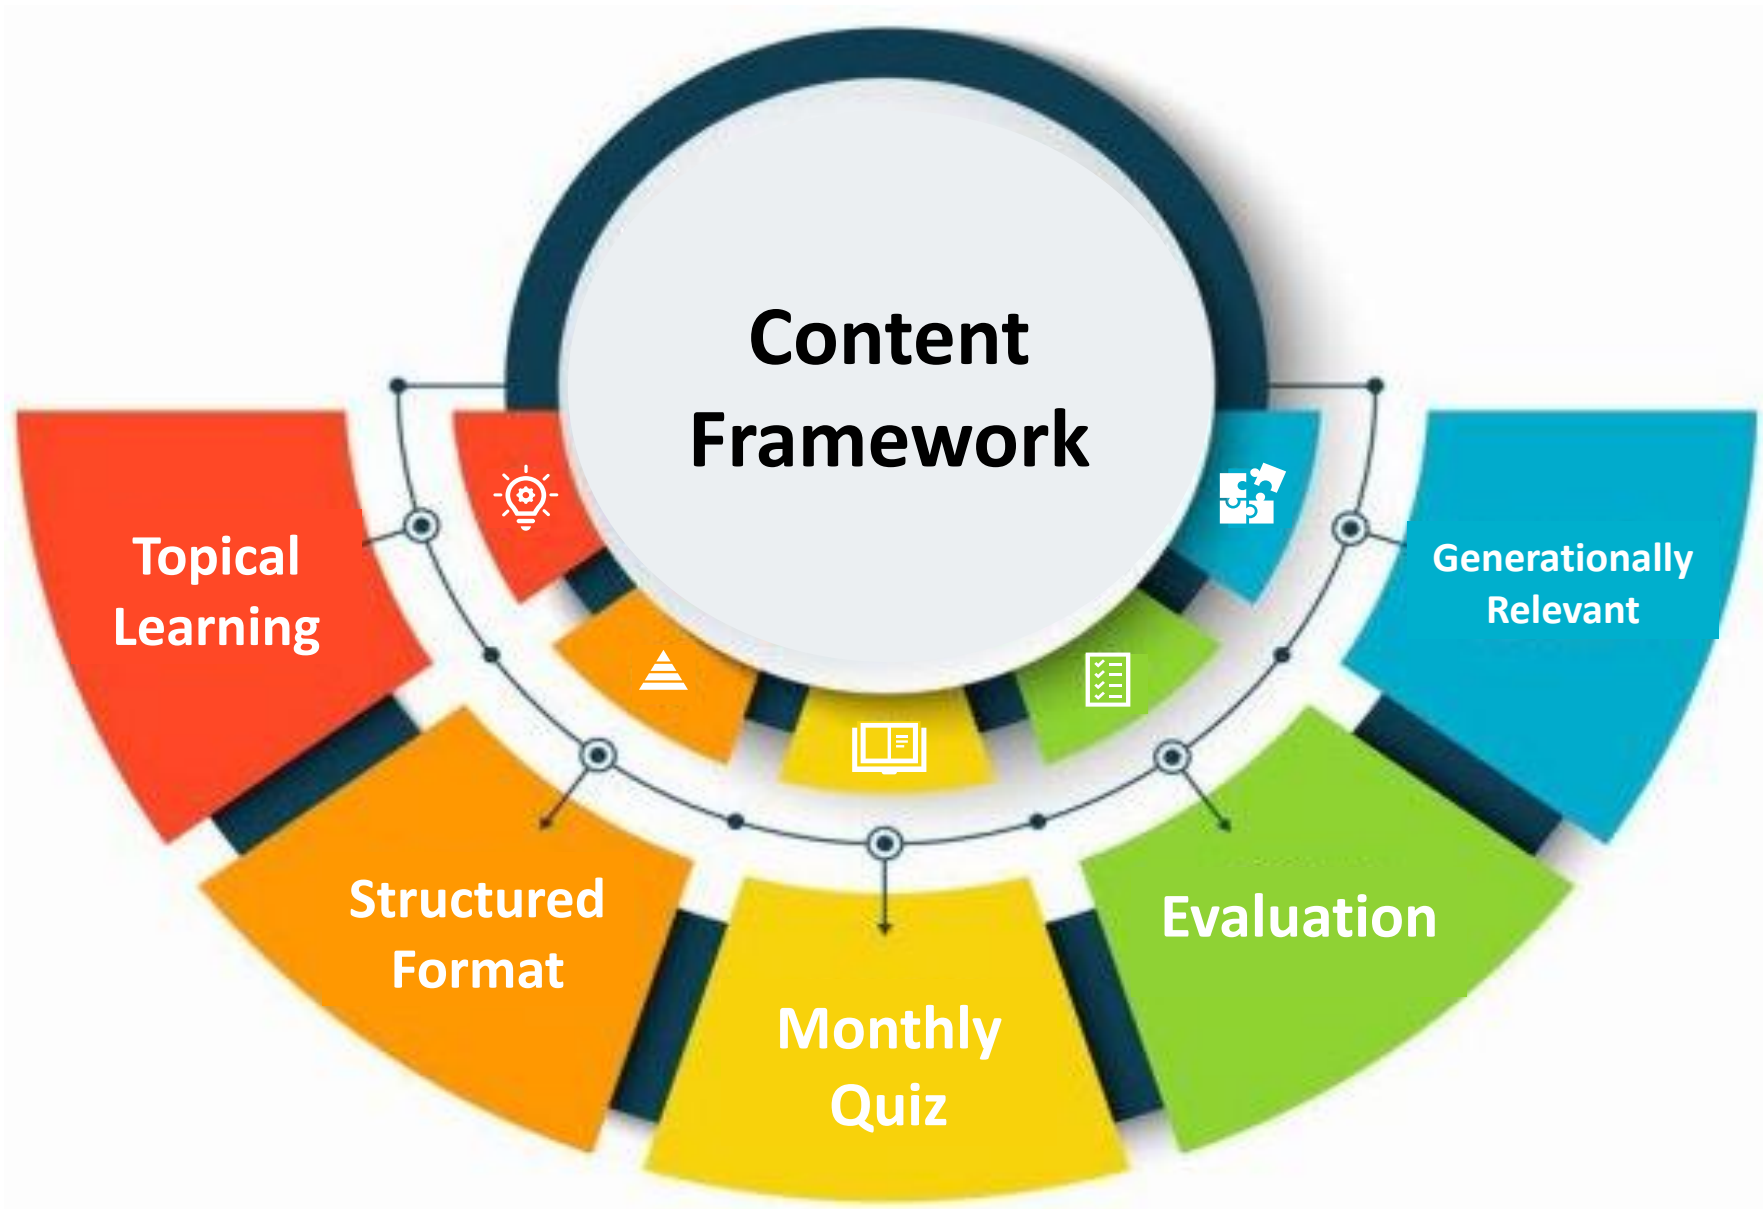

What are the key Objectives of IAP?

- ✓ The program is spread across 10 months.
- ✓ It consists of monthly books provided every month.
- ✓ Content for the books is created every month keeping the context of that particular month in mind
- ✓ A separate Teacher Copy is provided for the teacher with additional inputs.
- ✓ Teacher manual is provided online.
- ✓ Assessments are provided online and are password protected.
- ✓ The monthly books is part of the direct-to-school program and are not available anywhere else in the retail market.

Topical Learning

IAP has a unique system of covering content which has relevance to a particular month

Structured Format

Information given in the books are represented in a very systematic and structured format that is age appropriate and child friendly

Monthly
Quiz

We provide ready to use interactive test material on a monthly basis inside the student copy

Evaluation

A question bank is uploaded two times during the year for evaluation with assessment sheets and answer keys

Generationally Relevant

We recognise that students need information relevant to the changing environment and ensure that our topics are generationally relevant

Indian Monuments

Ayaan, Rohan and Tina were friends. They enjoyed going to school and learning.

They quickly sat in their seats as they went into the class. "Good morning, children. Let's learn some interesting facts about India. I am sure you know a lot about India, but there's so much more to learn. Ma'am, what are we going to learn today?" "We will learn about Indian monuments today."

"So, the first monument we will learn about is the Taj Mahal," said Usha ma'am. "How many of you have heard about it?" Almost half of the class raised their hand. "Taj Mahal is in Agra," said Ayaan. "Very good, Ayaan. Can anyone else tell me more about the Taj Mahal?" asked Usha ma'am. "It was built by Shah Jahan for his wife," said Rohan. "You are right, Rohan," said the teacher. "Shah Jahan was one of the emperors of India. He built the Taj Mahal in white marble for his wife. Here is a picture of the Taj Mahal."

Valley of Flowers

The Valley of Flowers is the name of the Himalayan area in the Uttarakhand region. It is located at a height of about 3,600 metres above sea level. It is flanked by mighty mountains on both sides. Counted as one of the most beautiful attractions of the state, the valley has received the status of World Heritage Site by UNESCO. The valley was declared a national park in the year 1982. It has hundreds of unique varieties of flowers. The flowers start falling by end of October, at the beginning of winter.

Story in Time

The place is said to have been discovered by Frank Smythe, a British mountaineer. In 1931, he lost his way while returning from a successful expedition to Mt. Kamet and he reached this valley, bordered by snow-capped mountain ranges and carpet of flowers. The valley was blooming with about 500 species of flowers. He was so attracted to the beauty of the place that he named it 'Valley of Flowers'. He authored a book called 'The Valley of Flowers' which unveiled the beauty and floral splendours of the valley and thus, threw open the doors of this verdant jewel to nature-enthusiasts all over the world.

Did You Know: Valley of Flowers

- According to legends, the region was earlier known as 'Nandan Kanan', or the 'Garden of Lord Indra', the King of Gods.
- During its early phase, the Park was locally known as Bhyundar Valley and was unknown to the world for centuries. However, the locals always knew of the existence of the valley and believed that it was inhabited by fairies.
- According to the epic Ramayana, it is believed that this is the place where Lord Hanuman searched for the Sanjeevani herbs to cure Lakshmana, when he was injured by Indrajit (Meghnad), son of demon king Ravana.
- More than 650 species of flowers are found here. Most of them have medicinal value.

Values to Learn

Preserving National Heritage
India is one of the ancient civilisations of the world. Over thousands of years, many great dynasties have risen from this great nation, leaving behind their legacies in the form of many magnificent structures and buildings. These monuments are a part of our national heritage. We should always refrain from causing harm or polluting these monuments.

The next morning, without setting eyes on anyone else, the King went directly into Ramaya's room and saw his face.

In the afternoon, when the King sat down for lunch, he could not eat anything since there was a fly sitting on his food. He ordered the cook to prepare lunch for him again. By the time lunch was prepared, Krishnadevaraya felt sick and couldn't eat anything. As a result, he could not concentrate on his work. He realised that whatever people said about Ramaya must be true. Therefore, the King felt it right to hang him, believing he was truly unlucky for others. He immediately ordered his soldiers to execute him the next day.

When Ramaya's wife heard about her husband's punishment, she rushed to seek Tenali Ramakrishna's help. With a lot of grief and tears in her eyes, she told him everything. The next morning, when the soldiers were taking Ramaya to hang him, they met Ramakrishna on the way. He quietly whispered something in Ramaya's ears and went away. Upon being asked for his last wish, Ramaya expressed that he wanted to send a note to the King.

Surprised, the guards took the note from him and handed it over to the King. The note read, "If by seeing my face, one loses appetite for a day, then what would be said of the King, seeing whose face first thing in the morning, one loses his life." The note ended with a sharp question, "O almighty King, who then is more cursed – I or you?" The King realised what Ramaya meant and set him free.

You can engage the class in a discussion with the following questions:

1. If you had the choice of receiving one gift, between wit and wisdom, what would you choose and why?
2. What made the King realise that Ramaya was indeed cursed? According to you, were the King's reasons logical or illogical?
3. Do you think King Krishnadevaraya did the right thing by paying 5000 gold coins to the horse trader in advance without even taking the horses? What would you have done if you were in his place?
4. How do you think wit and wisdom can help in improving our conversation with people?
